Type of assistance and contact details

Victims of THB are assisted by NGOs facilitating their safe return to the countries of origin. This assistance starts with the restoration of documents in case the latter were illegally taken away by their employers or helping them to contact consulate divisions of relevant embassies to acquire a certificate for return (travel documents that are needed in case there is no opportunity to obtain a passport). Quite often victims do not have resources to buy tickets back home, and NGOs arrange some financial assistance either through the IOM offices, or partner organizations in the countries of origin, or collecting donations. Partner organizations usually take the responsibility to ensure victims' safety upon return and rehabilitation process.

Limited assistance to victims of human trafficking is provided by NGOs on an ad hoc basis and are fully project' funded or funded by private donations.
